Pfc. George Benjamin, Jr. (1918-1944)

George Benjamin, Jr. was posthumously awarded our nation's highest military award, the Congressional Medal of Honor on June 28, 1945 by President Harry S. Truman. George is Woodbury's only Medal of Honor winner. George was a scholar athlete at Woodbury ('35) and Temple University ('39). "Benge" excelled in the discus, shot and javelin and was captain of Coach "Cap" Paine's track team. He was a brilliant mathematician and artist who was loved by all.

During World War II he served in Co. A, 306th Inf. Reg., 77th Infantry Division, US Army. It was with conspicuous acts of gallantry, valor and heroism above and beyond the call of duty and with utter disregard for his safety, that Pfc. Benjamin single-handedly led a fearless and spirited charge against a well-defended Japanese stronghold on Dec. 21, 1944 on the Island of Leyte, Philippine Islands.

After several of his officers were killed, George left his secure position, ran across bullet-whipped terrain waving for his platoon to follow. Carrying his bulky radio and armed only with a pistol, he fearlessly penetrated intense machine gun and rifle fire to the enemy position, killing one of the enemy in a foxhole and moving on to annihilate a light machine gun crew.

Heedless of heavy fire concentrated on him, he continued to spearhead the assault, killing two more of the enemy before falling mortally wounded. After being evacuated to an aid station, his first thought was still of the American advance. Overcoming great pain he radioed tactical information on enemy weapons and positions. His charge allowed the advance of his entire battalion, saved countless lives, and was a source of great and lasting inspiration to his comrades. He is now resting peacefully in the US Army cemetery at Fort Bonifacio, Manila, Philippines.

H. Browning Ross, (1924-1998)

Browning Ross was a 1948 and 1952 Olympian who became known as "The Father of Long-Distance Running in America." A life-long resident of Woodbury, he was 1943 NJ State Mile and National Interscholastic Indoor Mile Champion. He served in the Navy during W.W. II and, upon discharge, was discovered by Villanova's Jumbo Elliott. At Villanova, he won the 1948 NCAA steeplechase, going on to finish 7th in the 1948 Olympic steeplechase. Browning postponed his return to the States to enter road races in Ireland. Browning told Jumbo of the great talent he saw, which led to Villanova's long line of great Irish runners.

At the 1951 Pan American Games Browning won the 1500 meters, shared 1st in the steeplechase and was 4th in the 5,000 meters. In 1952, he again qualified for the U.S. Olympic team. He won 8 National AAU Cross Country Championships, was a U.S. team manager and in 1969 received the first Annual AAU Long Distance Award. He is a member of the National Long Distance Running Hall of Fame and the Villanova, Gloucester County and Woodbury High School Halls of Fame.

Recognizing a need to publish road racing results, in 1955 Browning founded the Long Distance Log, a national newsletter that continued until 1975. In 1957 he founded and became the first President of the Road Runners of Club of America, which today boasts more than 300,000 members.

At home, Browning was coach, race organizer, publisher, official and entrepreneur. But the quality of his life that endeared him to everyone was his mild-mannered, humble approach to life. Much like his boyhood mentor and friend George Benjamin, who inspired Browning's early desire to run, Browning was loved by all.
